

State University of New York Voluntary Savings Plans

As an employee of the State University of New York (SUNY), you have access to two different types of voluntary savings plans to help you save money for your future: the SUNY Voluntary 403(b) Savings Plan and the NYS Deferred Compensation (457) Plans.

Both of these plans allow you to deduct money from your paychecks on a pre-tax and Roth basis. The money deducted is deposited into one or more investment accounts you choose. When you are no longer employed by SUNY, you can withdraw money from these accounts to supplement your income. In some circumstances, you may be able to withdraw money before your employment ends.

The two types of deduction options are as follows:

The pre-tax option (Tax-Deferred Savings)—Federal and NY State income taxes are deferred until money is withdrawn, in accordance with Plan rules, upon attainment of age 59 1/2 or separation from service. Money deducted from your paycheck is not included in your current taxable income. In addition, earnings on your investments accumulate tax deferred.

The Roth option (Qualified Tax-Free Savings)—Federal and NY State income taxes apply on money deducted from your paycheck; however, “qualified” distributions are tax-free, which you can receive once you are separated from service, are at least age 59½, and it has been at least five taxable years since the initial Roth deposit. Therefore, total accumulated earnings under this savings option are not taxable to you when you take qualified distributions.

Both of these plans are governed by different sections of the Internal Revenue Service Code, so there are some differences in plan provisions.

- The SUNY Voluntary 403(b) Savings Plan is a plan authorized under section 403(b) of the Internal Revenue Code. This plan is administered by the State University of New York and allows you to choose among four authorized investment providers: Corebridge, Fidelity, TIAA and Voya.
- The New York State Deferred Compensation Plan is a plan authorized under Section 457 of the Internal Revenue Service Code. This plan is administered by the New York State Deferred Compensation Board. The Plan provides an array of investment options carefully selected by the Board and the authorized investment provider is Nationwide.

It is particularly important to note that you may participate in both plans concurrently and can contribute up to the annual maximum, which is currently $24,500, to each plan for a combined deferral maximum of up to $49,000 in 2026!

Some of the key provisions of these two plans are outlined on the following page for your convenience. Please be advised that this information is provided only for reference purposes and that official plan documents or authorized vendors should be consulted for more detailed information about these plans.
